

Calculated with white flag weather conditions and historical weather data from 2008 and 2009 show over two hundred white flag nights exist in Chapel Hill every year.

Excerpt from materials at the link above from the Nov 16, 2009 Town Council Agenda Materials:

5. Since the proposed Community House is defined as a "shelter" in the town ordinance we would naturally make allowances for some floor space on the lower level in case of a community wide disaster, medical emergency, storm, white flag nights (when weather makes it dangerous for people to be on the streets*), power outage or referral by police/fire agents, local emergency response team, hospital or emergence management officials.

* Temperatures drop below 40 degrees, heavy rains, snow and hail etc.

Chris Moran, IFC: "I look at my phone and it is 31 degrees outside.

We have been housing at least 80 people a night in a building that should occupy 50."

WHITE FLAG NIGHTS

206

Please note that white flag nights are actually based on the forecast, so this is a conservative estimate of nights when it actually rained.

If we include trace rainfall days, the number of white flag nights is over 230.
